VARIOUS AND ALL ABOUT.

We wish every farmer in Cherokee possessed an automobile. In that event every farmer would be an advocate for good roads.—Gaffney Ledger. A mighty good wish. We wish so too for Newberry, and we bet the Summers and Mower agree.

They have the "Dizzie-Lizzie" dance now, but it hasn't "stricken" Newberry yet.

This must be a kind of Christmas carnival "in our midst."

Those rooms at the Crotwell are to be had either singles or in suites.

The paragraphist of the Columbia State, the paragrapher of the Greenville Piedmont and the ditto ditto of the Anderson Mail dish up some dainty dishes daily—the State's for early breakfast, the Piedmont's for late dinner and the Mail's for early supper—bright, snappy, crisp.

Some there are who might think that owing to the large number of grocery merchants in a place the size of Newberry there would be not much trade for another. But it seems that every merchant can have a large patronage judging from the observation of a wandering customer in search of a pound of butter a few days since. Butter was scarce as eggs before the cold storage heap got in, and the man-in-search-of-a-pound-of-butter traversed the town from end to end. Each grocery store he visited was full of traders buying everything except butter and eggs.

Anderson Mail says if you did not shop early you should remember it is better late than never. We agree and know the merchants will.

A man by the name of Joseph Peters who lives at Ringgold, Catoosa county, Ga., has twenty children. What a job he has in giving Christmas presents. You men of large families in Newberry take consolation from the fact that your hands are not as full as the Catoosa man's.

Don't get hysterical, the poisoned needle is not going to reach Newberry, neither is the black hand.

Well, Grace got just what we thought and expected he would get—got turned down by the Washington committee in his charges against Whaley. He served notice on them, and they served him right. The charges against Mr. Whaley were dismissed.

Luke McLuke, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, says that another sure way to get in bad is to try to please everybody. Luke is quite right. Luke, Abe Martin, of the Spartanburg Herald, and Sam Brock, of the Columbia Record, reel off some good stunts.

Every once in a while, not often but every now and then, some fool gets "mad" and refuses to take the paper from the postoffice to which it is addressed. The mad house ought to have a separate room for all such. The nut house would contain some queer specimens of fool humanity.

The Wofford boys are to be congratulated upon winning out in their fight for college foot ball.—Cherokee News. Don't you let Bishop Kilgo see that.

President Cody of the State Baptist association has appointed a committee to memorialize the legislature in accordance with the action of the recent convention on temperance question, with Col. W. H. Hunt as chairman of the committee, the other members being Dr. C. E. Burts, of Columbia, Dr. J. F. Vines, of Anderson, Mr. James A. Hoyt, of Columbia, and Rev. G. W. Gardner, of Greenwood. If all the men on the committee are as busy as Col. Hunt, it is a busy committee, for he is a busy man with his law work, his cotton mill duties and other labors of his hands and brains. But did you ever notice that the busier a man is, the more he can do? It is the busy man who does things. Col. Hunt does things, and President Cody was wise in his choice of men for the committee, and all concerned showed good judgment in naming the chairman.

It is lively now in Newberry from dark till midnight. The lights are bright, the crowds are fine, and there is "life and lots of it" in the carnival grounds. It makes you feel the Christmas spirit, or some kind of inspiring spirit to hear the music, watch the crowds and see the lights and so forth. This describer hasn't "seen the carnival", but old reliable "they say" made report to him that

Low cost? Why, a Ford recently averaged twenty-five and a third miles to a gallon of gasoline—for thirty-three hundred miles! And this is not an exceptional Ford performance. Ford economy is a big reason for Ford popularity. Buy yours now.
